Messrs. METHUEN'S NEW BOOKS.

THE NEW FOREST. By HORACE G. HUTCHINSON. Illustrated in colour with 50 Pictures by WALTER TYNDALE and 4 by LUCY KEMP WELCH. Large demy 8vo, 21s. net.

The purpose of this book is to present to the public in the most vivid and acceptable form the present life and aspect of perhaps the most beautiful region in all England, that of the New Forest, and also to describe the successive geological, floral, faunal, and political changes that have led to the conditions that we find prevalent there to-day, including a full account of the forest laws and of the great abbey and sanctuary of Beaulieu.

THINGS SEEN IN MOROCCO. Being a Bundle of Jottings, Notes, Impressions, Tales and Tributes. By A. J. DAWSON. With many Illustrations. Demy 8vo, 10s. 6d. net.

Mr. A. J. Dawson's Moorish novels and stories are well known, and he is an authority upon the Land of the Moors. It is handsomely illustrated from pictures and portraits taken during the author's travels in Morocco; and it is not fiction, but an admixture of descriptive and informative sketches, illustrated and interspersed with short stories of the life dealt with. The book is dedicated to the British Minister in Morocco, Sir Arthur Nicolson. It should have a special interest at a time like this, when France and Britain in particular, and Europe in general, are anxiously watching the critical and chaotic affairs of the Land of the Setting Sun.

ROBERT BROWNING. By EDWARD DOWDEN.

"The criticism, from start to finish is admirable. Avoiding every sort of temptation—eschewing windy paraphrase and pretentious grandiloquence—it moves straight to the heart of the poetry, probing its intention and sifting its performance with great exactitude and no little subtlety of appreciation. It is, in short, true literary criticism of the highest order, making no attempt to display its own cleverness by paradox or violence, but simply setting about its business in a businesslike way, and performing its proper task with high efficiency, and by no means without eloquence."—Daily Chronicle.
